

Ulysses Slaughter Biography

Ulysses Slaughter is senior project director at the Pennsylvania Humanities Council and project manager of Chester Made. A veteran of The United States Navy and graduate of Pennsylvania's Lincoln University, Mr. Slaughter published Chester's Perspective Magazine from February 2001 to February 2004. In September 2005, he wrote, directed and produced "A Chester Story," a full-length documentary focused on the history of Chester's African American communities.

A seasoned journalist, Mr. Slaughter has contributed editorials and features to area publications including The Delaware County Daily Times, The Philadelphia Observer and The Philadelphia Tribune. He is author of three books and producer behind the film series "Odyssey To Save Ulysses."

An internationally recognized reconciliation expert, Mr. Slaughter recently designed and organized the regional effort that encouraged The City Council of Philadelphia to make an official apology for the 1985 MOVE bombing. Mr. Slaughter has appeared on both The Oprah Winfrey Network and The Dr. Phil Show. His work has been featured on local ABC, CBS, NBC and CNN affiliates. He travels globally to contribute to the ever-important human challenge of forgiving and reconciliation.
